Pre-built Windows profiles are very useful for securing and updating your software on an ongoing basis, but when you need to quickly create a new profile – such as the one used when you sign in to your computer – it is easy to create one that is based on the current computer or system. This makes it possible for a user to use specific software and other applications without fear of installing malicious software. The profile can be saved to a new.msp file or to one which already exists (for example, one that you created by copying the profile from another computer). The application allows for the quick and easy creation of a new profile, and for the backup and restoration of the profile file. Once a profile has been created, it can be quickly restored by simply opening the profile file with the application. The developers of this software have put together a complete guide, which includes a detailed introduction to the program and all of the key options. If you need to know how to make your Windows Operating System or your application system more secure, the information provided in the guide will help you create the optimal profile. Features:

- Create profile from your current system or an existing profile
- Create any profile from our current system or from an existing profile
- Create profile from File > New Registry Settings (Windows 2000/XP only)
- Create profile from File > New Software Settings (Windows 2000/XP only)
- Export a profile to another location on your computer
- Import a profile from an existing file
- Export an existing profile to another location on your computer Import an existing profile from another file Delete a profile (Windows 2000/XP only) Add Registry settings or software (Windows 2000/XP only) Remove Registry settings or software (Windows 2000/XP only) Add or remove a Certificate (Windows 2000/XP only) Add or remove a Root Certificate (Windows 2000/XP only) Export a Certificate (Windows 2000/XP only) Save a Certificate to an existing file (Windows 2000/XP only) Import a Certificate from another file (Windows 2000/XP only) Toonedit – edit images Toonedit is an image editor which provides a set of tools for image editing. You can use the program to rotate, resize, crop, enhance image color, and change the background color and transparency. Additionally, a batch mode helps you to edit a lot of images at once, and an online help system is available. Batch Mode The application provides a batch mode for those who

Duplicate Files Cleaner PC/Windows

Whether you're searching for a back-up solution for your business or working as a system administrator for a large organization, keeping track of the backup plans you've created and monitored is a daunting task. Backup Monitor is the answer to your needs. The design is split into two parts: a report-based dashboard and a chart-based monitoring component. The report-based dashboard is the central part of the solution, and you can easily compare your back-up plans according to type of data and selected time frames. It lets you determine the number of backup failures that you've encountered or failed to detect, and is also the ideal place to display charts of back-up plans over time. The chart-based component is also very simple to use. You select the chart layout (line, radar, or pie) and start adding the appropriate data via the layout's fields. The fields of different charts are similar to each other and the chart colors are defined by selecting a background color in the layout settings. All pie charts are displayed as percentiles, so the pie slices are proportionate to the total number of values in the data set. Key Features: * Backup plans can be added and monitored in real time; * A detailed report is displayed and sorted in various ways for more accurate analysis of your back-up results; * Effective troubleshooting is made easier due to the detailed report, summary tables, and charts generated by the application; * Super-fast response to changes in data or parameters is possible through adjusting the chart fields; * Reports can be generated with a wide range of date ranges; * Reports can be
