waterMark is a handy tool which allows you to add a watermark on your pictures, simply and quickly. The application is especially suitable for professionals and amateurs who want to protect their work against theft and forgery. The watermark is applied very quickly, giving the impression that it was done as part of the original picture. waterMark User Reviews: Let's look for the best watermark software for.NET, shall we? Each of them is a great image editor with amazing features. You can edit and add watermarks to all kinds of images. There are no complicated settings and all that stuff. Let's take a closer look. To sum it up Ankit Parekh is a ProSoft Engineer working in the Microsoft platform space for the last 10 years, designing and developing solutions using multiple technologies including.NET, JAVA, C# and SQL Server. Preview: Advantages: Disadvantages: One way to protect your work and your identity. Here's a really easy way to add a watermark to images that you produce. Just add a watermark in the form of a text or a logo on top of your image and when you upload it to the sites you use, it makes your image look like it belongs to you. All it does is add a watermark on top of your photo. The watermark automatically attaches to the photo when you upload it. I've used this for years and I like it. Its easy and cost effective. It's no big deal to add a watermark. You don't have to edit your images in any way. Its just a matter of adding a watermark on top of it, and all the images you upload to the web appear as if they are your. This feature is included with the free version of this software, and the premium version is very cheap, so it's worth a try. Watermark Software The tool offers easy watermarking for

BMP, JPEG, JPEG 2000, GIF, ICO, JPG, PNG, TIFF, PCX, and TGA files. You can get a preview of the watermark you have selected before you start and can also change its position on the image. You can also choose from eight different fonts. A watermark can be added to the background

Bcc: Last: Re: Wi-Fi Shield EM700 EM300 I have only one of them, the EM700 and it was cheap. I found it at Amazon. It was much less than the price at any store. Its very much similar to the EM300, but I had to pay about $10.00 for shipping so there was about a $70.00 difference. The EM700 is a better product, more stable and more features. If you really want to spend the extra money its probably worth it. But just be wary of shipping. The shipping of this shield is slow. Even with one to ship to a post office its still slow, took 3 weeks. But its worth the wait. They sent the wrong color one to me, but I just contacted them through Amazon. I will update the review when they send me the correct one. Last edited by DMC on Mon Dec 13, 2012 1:10 am; edited 2 times in total I was offered the EM300 by someone I know. I liked it. Well I do like using Wi-Fi. But I like having my phone do as much as I can. If I need to do it then it will be when I am far away from home. So since it was offered I couldn't really say no. Well the EM300 only works with my 2 WiFi, but if I had bought another router I could have put it on it, but its not a "must have" as long as it works well for my requirements.
