New Zealand First leader Winston Peters has accused the Prime Minister John Key of rushing through legislation to have a second term through the courts, and alleges that he tried to stop the law from going through by linking it up with the Native Reserves (Amendment) Bill. Key has announced that the Bill will be put to the vote on Wednesday. The third reading of the Constitution (Election Amendment) Bill 2011 - which will allow the Prime Minister to extend his term in office by up to four years if he wins an election - is being brought forward by just a week. The Prime Minister's first run in a general election has been marred by controversy, after it was leaked he told Peter Dunne, deputy leader of New Zealand First, that he wanted a coalition deal with the party. The Prime Minister has denied making any deal, but a few hours after the summit it was announced that Dunne's party had backed the National-led coalition. Peters is now claiming that John Key needed to give the Native Reserves (Amendment) Bill first. "Not only did Prime Minister Key want to stop the Constitution Bill being put to its second reading, he wanted to push the Native Reserves (Amendment) Bill up first. "But by linking the two together he almost destroyed the Bill. "That's what he did. He killed the second reading of the Constitution Bill in its crib, and then used that to tie the Native Reserves Bill into his deal with Peter Dunne, thereby giving himself as Prime Minister the right to extend his term of office by four years. "It was a deliberate ploy and a conspiracy, and it shouldn't have been allowed," he said. Peters said the Native Reserves Bill was a good piece of legislation which should have been allowed to pass, but his objections were overridden by some National MPs who wanted the second reading of the Constitution Bill to be delayed until they had the Native Reserves Bill. "The public must be angry with that - it's the biggest piece of constitutional change since the original 1852 Constitution," he said. National leader John Key said the proposals were set out in detail in the consultation paper, and that the laws were needed to fix the power vacuum the former Labour-led Government left. "The middle ground of including both in the early paring for policy discussion is where we ended up." The legislation will allow the First-

We adopted 5 children from the foster care system in the Houston area, and they could not have been more excited about learning a new language. In addition to learning Spanish, they also enjoy Spanish gymnastics, swimming lessons, dancing, and field trips. The staff were so helpful in teaching the children to be responsible and work well as part of a group. I would highly recommend the Bella Vista School to anyone. I hope someday, I may adopt another child to attend." Please help me. A: Assuming you mean: $\sin x = \sin(3/2 + 1/4 - x)$ $\implies \sin 2x = 3 \sin x \cos x$ $\sin 3x = 9 \sin x \cos x$ So, your equation boils down to: $\frac{3}{4} \sin(3x) = 3 \sin x \cos x$ Also, if you can factor the right side of the equation out, you can also simply multiply by 2 on both sides and be done with it. A: Your notations are a bit confusing. You have $\sin x = \sin(3/2 + 1/4 - x)$ But then you say $\sin x = 3/2 \cdot \sin x \cdot \cos x$ Make sure you are not confusing $\sin x$ and $\sin(3/2 + 1/4 - x)$ or using the same variable names. We can also argue simply: $\sin(3/2 + 1/4 - x) = \frac{3}{4} \sin x$ and $\sin x$
