"I went to see him at the local music store, and he started playing for me. He asked, 'How do you like it?' And I said, 'I like it, but I like music that moves me.' And that's when he played me 'I Know a Girl.'"Q: BeautifulSoup from a Html page that has one Div tag that contains other Divs I'm trying to scrape some information from this page for some school work, but I'm having a little trouble. The class.html file is generated by OpenCourseWare and I really don't know if it's possible to scrap the data from it. What I'm trying to do is extract the Div's that are inside the IMG tag. Here is the code: from bs4 import BeautifulSoup import requests import os from datetime import datetime output = 'collection.html' url = " page = requests.get(url) bsObj = BeautifulSoup(page.content, "html.parser") for div in bsObj("img"): print div The reason I'm using the.html parser is because the HTML5 parser doesn't seem to work for this page. When I run this code, I get an error that says I'm missing a closing bracket. The code works fine when I
